

Party Pants Red

Party Pants: fun and laughter guaranteed!

A hexathlon is not worthy of the name without a fun pants game. Party Pants, I hear you say? Well, actually they are four pants sewn together to fit four people. The team has to try and cross the finish line as one as fast as they can. This isn't just an ideal game for a teambuilding event, but also a fantastic feature at kids' parties. It will definitely be a game that inspires hilarious battles and roars of laughter. Although everyone's in it together, tumbling over is virtually inevitable, so you'll need to have a soft surface to fall in order to prevent anyone from really getting hurt.

It is quick to set up, much quicker than reaching the finish line

The aim of the game is clear: the team that crosses the finishing line first, wins. Setting up the game is a very easy job, because JB-Inflatables conveniently supplies everything you need in a complete package, so you have everything you need to successfully add this fun party pants game to your hexathlon product range. For even greater convenience, we also include a transport bag.
